academic violation of any sort), they will be subject to the six step process in accordance with the university's policies and procedures.

https://www.ue.ucsc.edu/academic\_misconduct.

The process is as follows:

- The instructor meets with the student
- The college provost meets with the student
- The case may be reviewed by the academic tribunal
- A hearing may be held
- A decision is made
- An appeal may be submitted

If there is evidence of an academic integrity violation, the faculty member indicates what sanction he/she believes is appropriate, who in turn will determine whether such a sanction is commensurate with the action and evidence, and if necessary makes adjustments to the sanction. For the first infraction, the sanction may include:

- An "F" for the assignment or exam
- Reduction of course grade
- Failure for the entire course, with the inability to withdraw, or other action deemed appropriate by the faculty member. Examples include, but are not limited to, requiring the student to re-take the exam, re-complete an assignment, or complete an assigned exercise.

Therefore, student will be required to cover at least three chapters each week. This course requires discipline. Students should plan on investing 12 to 16 hours of their time outside of class to adequately prepare for class and master the material; the amount of time may vary for some students (i.e., some students may need more time and others may not need as much time). As such, students should make a concerted effort not to get behind or procrastinate when it comes to completing assignments

Quizzes:

There will be a total of two quizzes given throughout the term. Each quiz has point value of 100 points. The quizzes may be given manually, using the Connect Software. There are no makeup quizzes.

Weekly Homework Assignments:

Weekly homework problems are assigned throughout the term to test your mastery and comprehension of the material. The weekly assignments can be accessed via the My Accounting Lab.

Weekly assignments will consist of homework problems. The homework problems incorporate the theoretical foundation of the accounting concepts and principles as well as the practical application. Students are allowed unlimited attempts to complete the homework during the homework period until the due date.

The more you practice, the better you will do in this class!

There is no credit is assigned for practice problems. Once an assignment is past the due date, it cannot be re-opened or extended.

**Note that you are required to submit all homework when complete. Any homework not submitted by the due date will not count towards your homework grade. No homework assignments will be accepted late for any reason.

Students having difficulty with the course material and concepts are urged to attempt additional, self-assigned problems to reinforce the chapter concepts. Additional assignments can be assigned, if necessary. The student is the best person to determine the amount of work needed to successfully grasp and understand course concepts. The maximum homework points available to be earned towards your grade are 200 points.

Exams:

There will be two exams (Midterm and Final Exam) consisting of multiple-choice questions, short-answer, problems and essays. The exam dates are fixed commitments and are indicated on the course schedule. It is recommended that students not miss exams due to any reasons except circumstances that are beyond the student's control (e.g., illness and the like). There are no make-ups.

Online Exam Policy

Online exams will be given using the textbook publisher's website and will require students to use two technologies to help ensure that every student is equally advantaged:

Online Exam Policy

Online exams will be given using the textbook publisher's website and will require students to use two technologies to help ensure that every student is equally advantaged:

1. Students will use a special software that limits or monitors access to websites, other software applications, and study materials during the exam. It is the student's responsibility to know what additional resources (if any) are permitted during the exam and to stay within those guidelines. Exams should also be taken in a quiet environment that is free from distractions and interruptions with a strong, reliable, and encrypted Internet connection (e.g. not an unencrypted public hotspot).
2. Students are required to use a computer equipped with a webcam that will monitor/record them as they take the exam. This video can be reviewed later by the instructor to ensure integrity of the test. Violations of the testing restrictions or policy can affect the student's exam score.
3. Students must schedule the exam at least 72 hours in advance. Further, students may be asked to complete a sample test in the proctoring system to ensure that their computer is compatible and working properly at least 48 hours prior to the first scheduled exam.

Course Evaluations:

All students are strongly encouraged to provide constructive feedback on the online course evaluation. This evaluation is anonymous. The instructor does not have access until the course term is complete and final grades are submitted. The instructor and the department uses this feedback to enhance and improve the quality of instruction.
