The course will explore improvisation across the performing art disciplines through readings on dance, music, and theater improvisation, by viewing live performances, and by engaging in the practice of improvisation in the theatrical tradition. The emphasis will be on studying and doing acting improv.

You are expected to come to class on time and prepared. Since much of our class time will center on improvisation training, focused and sustained engagement with in-class exercises will be essential. In addition to participation in exercises and discussions I lead, you will develop a variety of reading-based and acting improv assignments including both group and individual presentations. You will be expected to attend three live improvisation performances (or attend two live + screen two performance videos) and write scene analyses in response. You will also write two short papers integrating the assigned readings of the course.

A note about attendance: While I would like you to come to all class meetings, I understand that illness, emergencies, etc. may preclude perfect attendance. You should know, however, that you must attend eight of our ten class meetings in full to earn any credit for the class because so much of the substance of the course occurs in class. Naturally, any absence will affect your grade for the course; on the other hand, perfect on-time attendance gives you an A for the attendance component of your grade.

Grades will be computed as follows:
25% attendance
25% participation (intensity of engagement, rather than performance ability)
50% written work:
  - Improv Show #1 and #3 short papers (10% each)
  - Whose Improv Is It Anyway short paper (12%)
  - Manifesto (18%)
This may be a very different grading rubric than you are used to if you usually take classes that privilege exams or papers over attendance/participation. While many students enjoy and benefit from this change, others prefer to exercise their option to take the class pass/no pass.

Texts/Readings:
Acting on Impulse by Carol Hazenfield
Improvise by Mick Napier
Whose Improv is it Anyway? by Amy Seham (a free eBook)
Course Reader
The books and reader are available at the Bay Tree Bookstore on campus.
See our course site at canvas.ucsc.edu for assignments and some readings.

Accommodations Requests:
UC Santa Cruz is committed to creating an academic environment that supports its diverse student body. If you are a student with a disability who requires accommodations to achieve equal access in this course, please submit your Accommodation Authorization Letter from the Disability Resource Center (DRC) to me, preferably within the first two weeks of the quarter. At that time, I would also like us to discuss ways we can insure your full participation in the course. I encourage all students who may benefit from learning more about DRC services to contact DRC by phone at 831-459-2089 or by email at drc@ucsc.edu.
Guests/Visitors:
Because of the nature of the work we do with each other that relies on mutual trust developed over time, guests/visitors are not permitted in this class.

Summer Session Deadlines
Session 1:
Drop: Monday, July 1
Request for “W” (withdrawal): Friday, July 12
Neither Summer Session nor instructors drop students for non-attendance or non-payment.
Students must drop themselves. Dropping results in full tuition reversal/refund. Withdraw posts a W for the grade and full tuition is charged (no refund).
For all dates and deadlines, including ‘change of grade option’ (P/NP) and grades due, see the summer academic calendar: https://summer.ucsc.edu/studentlife/index.html
For questions about dropping, requesting a W grade for a course, or withdrawing from the summer quarter, email summer@ucsc.edu.

Academic Dishonesty
Academic integrity is the cornerstone of a university education. Academic dishonesty diminishes the university as an institution and all members of the university community. It tarnishes the value of a UCSC degree. All members of the UCSC community have an explicit responsibility to foster an environment of trust, honesty, fairness, respect, and responsibility. All members of the university community are expected to present as their original work only that which is truly their own. All members of the community are expected to report observed instances of cheating, plagiarism, and other forms of academic dishonesty in order to ensure that the integrity of scholarship is valued and preserved at UCSC.
In the event a student is found in violation of the UCSC Academic Integrity policy, he or she may face both academic sanctions imposed by the instructor of record and disciplinary sanctions imposed either by the provost of his or her college or the Academic Tribunal convened to hear the case. Violations of the Academic Integrity policy can result in dismissal from the university and a permanent notation on a student’s transcript. For the full policy and disciplinary procedures on academic dishonesty, students and instructors should refer to the Academic Integrity page at the Division of Undergraduate Education.

Title IX:
The university cherishes the free and open exchange of ideas and enlargement of knowledge. To maintain this freedom and openness requires objectivity, mutual trust, and confidence; it requires the absence of coercion, intimidation, or exploitation. The principal responsibility for maintaining these conditions must rest upon those members of the university community who exercise most authority and leadership: faculty, managers, and supervisors. The university has therefore instituted a number of measures designed to protect its community from sex discrimination, sexual harassment, sexual violence, and other related prohibited conduct. Information about the Title IX Office, the online reporting link, applicable campus resources, reporting responsibilities, the UC Policy on Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment and the UC Santa Cruz Procedures for Reporting and Responding to Reports of Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment can be found at titleix.ucsc.edu. The Title IX/Sexual Harassment Office is located at 105 Kerr Hall. In addition to the online reporting option, you can contact the Title IX Office by calling 831-459-2462.
